1.1 Motivation

The work needed a start for that we approached the Panchayat Samiti at Karad, we took an appointment with B.D.O. Abasaheb Pawar. Our team had a discussion with him regarding the various services the panchayat samiti provides to people with different backgrounds and needs in their particular wards, but according to him there are a lot of improvements in the use of E-Services.

With this he confirmed that " E- LEARNING " is an important part of the day - to - day life as the small kids understand most of the part of their curriculum by use of the videos and pictorial formats. According to him various Zilla Parishad schools are provided with E – Learning materials like the LFD's, Computers, Projectors Etc., but the difficulty is that the teachers are not technically strong so as to handle any sort of problems or connection faults. That's the reason why whenever there is any issue the school authorities have to contact the dealers. But it's not always possible to send the technician on time, and the kids have to study without these facilities. And we were approved by the B.D.O to train such school teachers who are technically unfit to operate these devices.

2.2 Projectors

A projector or image projector is an optical device that projects an image (or moving images) onto a surface, commonly a projection screen. Most projectors create an image by shining a light through a small transparent lens, but some newer types of projectors can project the image directly, by using lasers. A virtual retinal display, or retinal projector, is a projector that projects an image directly on the retina instead of using an external projection screen.

The most common type of projector used today is called a video projector. Video projectors are digital replacements for earlier types of projectors such as slide projectors and overhead projectors. These earlier types of projectors were mostly replaced with digital video projectors throughout the 1990s and early 2000s, but old analog projectors are still used at some places. The newest types of projectors are handheld projectors that use lasers or LEDs to project images. Their projections are hard to see if there is too much ambient light.

Advantages of a projector

1. Greater Teaching Versatility: - Projectors release teachers from being bound to chalk and dry-erase boards to present information to their students. With the use of projectors, teachers can now use films, slides, and images to teach students about the world and places they have never seen and can't imagine.Teachers will also find that the Internet is more useful since projectors can display web content to an entire class, rather than each student accessing information on small individual computers. Many projectors also deliver exceptional sound quality, which is advantageous when listening to music or educational films.

2. Better Use of Class Time: -Prior to the use of projectors in the classroom, teachers had to spend time writing notes on the board, as well as erasing information due to limited space. Projectors facilitate the planning process so teachers can decide on lecture content and important points ahead of time instead of making decisions spontaneously. Projectors require a simple click of a button or mouse, thus, freeing valuable class time. Teachers may also find that they spend less time repeating or rewriting information that is now accessible with a simple click.

How to Connect a Projector

1. Setup the projector facing the screen, and plug in the power cord. Set your laptop next to the projector.
2. Plug one end of VGA cable (shown above) into the COMPUTER 1 IN port on the projector.
3. Plug the other end of the VGA cable into your laptop's monitor port. If you have a display adapter for your laptop, connect that to the VGA cable before connecting it to your laptop.
4. Turn on your laptop first. Then turn on the projector by first turning power button to on and then push the top power button. The lamp will take a minute to warm up and display.

2.3Computers

Computer education in schools plays important role in student's career development. Computer with the internet is the most powerful device that students can use to learn new skills and more advanced version of current lessons. Schools are around the globe teaching student's basics of computers and internet. Computers help students to draw the creativity on the computer such as by using windows paint program. Parents want their kids to be intelligent and creative. They want to see high marks at the end of the year. They don't want to see their kids don't know about computers when other knows very well. They want to send their kids to schools where the high level of education and schools have enough IT infrastructures. That's the reason why ZP schools have been distributed with computers so that he students from their beginning start to develop computer skills.

7. Presentation Technique:

Once you know you are eligible for an Aadhaar card, you are going to want to apply for one and this is a process that can take a bit of time. The first thing you should know is that Aadhaar registrations are completely voluntary right now and even if you don't get one, you won't be excluded from any privilege that you are eligible for. The second thing is that the issuing of an Aadhaar number will depend on you being able to visit the enrolment centres and submitting any and all required documents and biometric data required. The actual process of getting the card will go from you applying for an appointment to visiting the centre to submit the information, to getting the number, verifying the details and actually getting the Aadhaar card. So lets take a look at the registration process to begin with.
