Guest Lecture on "Cloud Computing"

Date: 17th January 2022

Name of Guest : Mr. Abhay Patil

The Department of Computer Science organized a guest lecture on "Cloud Computing" lead by Prof Inadamar & Head of Department of Computer Science. It was organized on 17th January 2022. There were total 40+ participants / students all of them were institutional students.

In this interactive session the students were given brief description of the following:

- Introduction
- Need of Cloud Computing
- Types of Cloud Computing
- Roles of Cloud Computing

The students were provided the information on cloud computing where he told the students about the growing needs of computers in our day to day life so the computing resources that we need also go up.

He explained what the cloud computing exactly mean in real life. A cloud is a virtualized server pool which can provide the different computing resources of their clients. Users of this system need only be concerned with the computing services being asked for.

He further discussed all different types, needs & importance of cloud computing & how rapidly growth of it.

Moving ahead he also performed some basic experiments to get to know better how it works for students. He showed the students

1) how to build a simple application on AWS EC2 "Hello World" app for the cloud

Then again he also showed the students

2) how to deploy the "Hello World" app for the cloud.

After this hands on experiments he told us about the virtualization: how to install, how to set the permissions each & every thing he had elaborate to students to grasp it easily.

Innovators are free to focus on the innovation to find resources to develop, test & make their innovation available.

At the conclusion of the session the query round was held in which the student can ask their queries to satisfy their curiosity.

The overall session was enlightening & the students enjoyed it and making the students aware of basics of Cloud Computing.

Iramdar.
